falling off in all departments of business in the United States for the past three would seem almost absurd to quote statistics to prove it. If evidence other than that of the visible conditions were wanting, however, we have it in the reour borders, as well as in the heavenal reports of our government. What is the trouble with the country?

The key to the solution of this question can be found in the following statements copied from President Cleve- Bryan's election would certainly be, land's message to congress, published would more than double every calamity December 9, 1885:

"The fact that our revenues are in excess of the actual needs of an economical administration of the government justifies a reduction in the amount exacted from the people for its support. deal is the reduction of revenues received by the government indirectly from the people by custom duties. I think the reduction should be made in the revenue derived from taxes upon the imported necessaries of life."

In his message to congress in Decem ber, 1887, he makes the following state-

"You are confronted at the threshold of your legislative duties with a condition of the national finances which imperatively demands immediate and care-ful consideration.

The amount of money annually ex-Acted, through the operation of present of the people, largely exceeds the sum necessary to meet the expenses of the

These laws, as their primary and plain effect, raise the price to consumers of all articles imported and subject to duty, by precisely the sum paid for such duties. Thus the paid by those who purchase for use these imported articles. Many of these things, however, are raised or manufac ties now levied upon foreign goods and equal to that demanded for the import-

Mr. Cleveland, it seems, has never had his attention called to the indieputable fact that protection to home industries, as a rule, has so increased the home production of products protected that the price of the articles is terests than children are fit to play lowered both in this country and with razors. Maioe's verdict was rendabroad, so that the consumers in all countries are buying cheaper than they would if the industries in this country were not protected. There are scores of articles sold in this country for less than the duties upon them; therefore, his theory that "the consumer pays the price for the foreign article with the duty added, not only upon imported articles but upon domestic products," is radically false and misleading, and

The Ash Family

Probably no one family in the history of the west has been the subject of so many pretty complimentary press notices as the Ash family. The profess his wife have been blessed with patural musical talent entirely out of proportion to the majority of humanity, and their little daughter Della bereditarily partakes of a combination of the best oberacteristics of her parents. On Wednesday evening of this week, at Reid's Opera house, the family will appear in a concert and high grade variety enter-tainment, which will doubtless be as line an exhibition of its kind as Tucson has ever witnessed. Local talent will be in evidence and an all around good show will be the result.

The program will be varied in obaracter, so that all may be pleased. Music of a highly classical order; comic songs in character, perfectly delineated; the lightning character changes of Little Della Ash; comical recitatione; acroba-tic feats of wonderful skill; campaign songe, and other equally interesting features will make up an entertainment seldom equalled in one evening. The National Magazine, so far as is known, is the only illustrated month y chiefly to articles treating of Au topics and American events. This they propose doing although not to the entire tance. It is, however, as a national magazine for the American people that they sim first to achieve, a magazine that shall reflect the things o mount importance that transpire in the Western continent. The publishers are prepared to accomplish this in the most effective manner possible by the employ-ment of a staff of correspondents who cover intelligently every section of national territory and every move of national affaire,
